Nabokov Readings (“Nabokovskiye Chteniya”) – 2013

23 April 2013

4-5 July 2013

On April 23 and July 4, 2013 St. Petersburg State University Vladimir Nabokov Museum will hold its annual “Nabokov Readings” International Conference.

This year the conference will be held on separate dates: April 23 and July 4-5, 2013. This is done to make travel and participation easier for both Russian and international scholars.

Official languages of the conference:

April 23 – Russian

July 4-5 – English & Russian

Organizing Committee:

Professor Boris Averin, St. Petersburg State University

Professor Alexander Dolinin, University of Wisconsin-Madison, USA

Professor Maxim D. Shrayev, Boston College, USA

Tatiana Ponomareva, Director, Vladimir Nabokov Museum

The sessions and special topics will be determined upon the review and acceptance of the submitted proposals.

Please send abstracts of approximately 200 words to Daniel Sergeyev, Coordinator at sirgeev@gmail.com and museum@nabokovmuseum.org

Please indicate the conference date to which you are submitting your proposal.

Deadlines for submissions:

April session: March 15, 2013

July session: May 15, 2013

Official conference invitations from the St. Petersburg State University will be sent to participants upon request by e-mail or fax. All information regarding visa support, travel and accommodation will be provided for all participants.
